Quotes & Notes

- Trainer Kelly O'Donnell, who harnessed Tidewaterdragonfly to a fourth place finish in her Breeders Crown elimination on Aug. 22, was happy with the way his mare raced.
- "She raced well," O'Donnell said. "She came out of it fine and after that mile that they went in there, we won't do a whole lot with her this week. She'll just jog lightly, as she doesn't take much training anyway."
- Tidewaterdragonfly has amassed $905,131 under O'Donnell's tutelage, with an 11-5-6 record from 28 career starts. Earlier this year she posted a 1:49.4 clocking at The Meadowlands, and also captured the $401,658 Roses Are Red Final at Mohawk on June 28.
- "This mare is not a leaver or a first-up type of horse," O'Donnell explained. "We'll hope for a good trip and hope that someone goes after Southwind Madonna. This mare is very easy going, very mellow and really likes what she does. She doesn't need a whole lot of work and is an easy keeper, not mean at all and very pleasant to be around."
- "We got good luck with the draw (post three)," O'Donnell added. "In her elim, she was first up from the half on, a pretty tough trip. Hopefully we'll have better fractions in the fractions and a different outcome. We have the most to fear from (rival) Southwind Madonna.

Mare Pace

- It was the first time driver Paul MacDonell had sat behind the mare. "I didn't know that much about her," he said. "Kelly (trainer O'Donnell) told me that she would be great with cover, but we never did find any cover, so I ended up being first over, and she impressed me. In the final, I think if enough of them get into it and mix it up, she'll be competitive. I would just like to try and bury her and then let them fight it out to the half, or three-quarters, and then drive right by them."
- Kelly O'Donnell, 50, of Sagamore Hills, Ohio has been training horses since the early 1970s, and to date has harnessed 608 winners of $9,793,777. In 1985 he harnessed Stienam to victory in the $279,166 Sophomore Filly Pace.
